Gravity industries founder shows demonstration of jet suit

Richard Browning, the founder of Gravity Industries, took it to the next level by demonstrating his jet suit and flying across hole 18 at the Ritz-Carlton in Naples.

NAPLES, Fla. - Inspiration was quite literally "taking off" at the Imagine Solutions Conference in Naples today. Visionaries from all over the world taking the stage to share their ideas, advice, and inspiration.

Richard Browning, the founder of Gravity Industries, took it to the next level by demonstrating his jet suit and flying across hole 18 at the Ritz-Carlton in Naples.

The conference is all in an effort to inspire others and make a difference in our Southwest Florida communities.

"Every time I've come here I've walked away with something that has changed my perspective and it has helped me see the challenges that we face in the world differently but also how I can bring some of these perspectives into my own life," said Joshua Mesnik, a conference attendee.
